PROCEEDINGS OF CONGRESS.

Senate.

THE FUNDING BILL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.

After speedily disposing of the routine business the Senate resumed discussion of the Funding bill, with the generally understood purpose of disposing of it today, even if a night session is necessary.

Mr. Platt (Rep., Conn.) spoke in favor of the 3½ rate and the other features recommended by the Senate committee.

Mr. Pugh (Dem., Ala.) favored 3 per centum and Mr. Voorhees (Dem., Ind.) eulogized the greenback and advocated a provision to protect it from destruction in the operation of the bill.

House of Representatives.

THE APPORTIONMENT BILL.

Mr. Cox (Dem., N. Y.) moved to proceed to the consideration of the unfinished business—the Apportionment bill.

Mr. Conger (Rep., Mich.) raised the question of consideration in favor of the Agricultural Appropriation bill, but Mr. Cox's motion prevailed—yeas, 143; nays, 93.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

A Favorable Committee Result.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—There was another partial victory this morning for the Northern Pacific Railroad in the House Committee on Pacific Railroads. A motion was made to recommit the favorable report of the sub committee which was made last week, and which had the effect to declare that the charter should not be forfeited. The motion this morning to recommit was in opposition to the interests of the road and it failed to pass, as the time during which the committee could sit expired. This action of course is not final, but as there will be but a few more meetings of the committee it is regarded as favorable.

THE APPORTIONMENT BILL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Mr. Cox had intended to ask for a vote on the Apportionment bill today but has postponed this until Saturday, as the Republicans wish to hold a caucus.

MR. FORSTER'S NOMINATION.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—A member of Congress, who says that he knows, tells me that the President has decided to withdraw the name of Mr. Forster, nominated to be United States District Attorney at New York.

LATER.—The President sent a message to the Senate this afternoon withdrawing the nomination.

No new nomination has yet been made.

TWO MEN SUFFOCATED IN A SAND BANK.

One Rescued.

BOSTON, Feb. 17.—Yesterday, at Oakdale, Mass., an embankment caved in on the Massachusetts Central Railway, burying three laborers. Oliver King was rescued alive, but Tim Niphan and Kelley, of Boston, died of suffocation.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

HANNIBAL, Mo., Feb. 17.—The caboose of a freight train on the Wabash road jumped the track at the East Hannibal switch, this morning, rolled down an embankment and took fire. Y. Snell, a passenger from Crescent City, Ill., was killed. Two other passengers, the conductor and a brakeman were slightly hurt. A broken rail caused the accident.

OMAHA, Feb. 17.—Thousands of cattle are reported killed by the recent severe winter on the plains. Over 500 dead cattle were counted in sight of the railway from Ogallalla to Big Springs, a distance of nineteen miles.

THE IRISH SITUATION.

Parnell to Return to London at Last.

DUBLIN, Feb. 16.—The superintendent of detectives, with some of his men, watched the entrances of the Land League offices at the beginning of the meeting yesterday.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Letters to the Irish members on business concerning the Land League will be sent under cover to other addresses. Several English Radicals have undertaken to receive in this way the correspondence of leading Irish members.

The conference between Parnell and Rochefort has excited much indignation among the Catholic members of Parnell's party.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—At the dinner which he gave to Parnell last night, Victor Hugo pledged himself to write an appeal to the world in favor of Ireland similar to that which he published in favor of Poland. It will probably appear next week.

Parnell and O'Kelly leave for London in the morning, to oppose the coercion bill in committee in the House.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—The Times is informed that in one district in the west of Ireland, notorious as the scene of more than one scandalous Land League victory, between twenty and thirty village tyrants have quietly absconded since the second reading of the protection of person and property (Ireland) bill.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Capt. Allan Henry Bellingham (Conservative and Home Rule Member of Parliament for Louth and private chamberlain to Pope Leo XIII.) writes to the Times protesting against interviews of Irish members of Parliament with continental revolutionary leaders, and says he must completely dissociate himself from sentiments expressed at such interviews.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—A despatch from Paris states that it is believed that the Fenian head centre, Stephens, left that city last week.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—Parnell promised on his return to Ireland to send Victor Hugo a letter on the political situation in that country, and Hugo said he would reply to such a letter by a manifesto to Europe in favor of the claims of Ireland.

PARNELL IN LONDON.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Messrs. Parnell, O'Kelly, Brennan and Sexton arrived in London tonight.

In consequence of the action of the government on the subject of coercion, the Parnellites have resolved to vote with the Conservatives on all questions not relating to Ireland.

Mr. Parnell announces that he will be in Parliament today.

The Conservatives will meet today to consider Mr. Gladstone's motion. A proposal which finds considerable support among Conservatives is that when the motion is put from the chair, they shall quit the House in a body, but should the Conservatives vote with the obstructionists, Mr. Gladstone's motion would be defeated.

A correspondent at Paris telegraphs that in an interview with Mr. Parnell, the latter stated that he had reason to believe his letters have been opened for the last six months.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—John W. Nally one of the traversers, has started from Claremorris for London to proceed to the Cape, where he intends to spend the remainder of his life.

Mr. Shaw, member of Parliament for Cork county, who seceded from the Parnell party, has issued a manifesto, in which he charges Mr. Parnell with having, by an unwise use of the weapon of obstruction, led the party to helpless defeat, Irish representation being discredited and English feeling outraged. Mr. Shaw denounces the coercion bill, and adjures Irishmen to prepare for freedom by constitutional action.

At a meeting of Home Rulers, it was resolved to offer additional amendments to the protection bill.

THE AFRICAN WAR.

The Armistice on the Eighteenth Instant.

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 16.—The armistice concluded with the Basutos commences on the 18th instant.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The Standard says that it is understood that it is proposed that that part of the Transvaal to which the Boers have a fair claim will be declared independent, and the remaining and larger part will be governed by a British administration, and that a British resident will be appointed at the capital of the Boers.

The president of the Orange Free State telegraphs that he has taken stringent precautions to preserve the neutrality of the state.

LONDON, Feb 17.—A despatch from Durban dated the 16th inst. says that a telegraph wire has been cut between New Castle and Ladysmith.

President Brand telegraphs denying the rumor that the Orange Free State Boers formed a league in Natal to oppose the British.

THE WHITTAKER TRIAL.

Testimony of Cadet Cornish.

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—In the Whittaker trial today, Cadet Lester W. Cornish was the next witness, and testified that on the morning of April 6th a cadet told him that Major Piper wanted to see him in Whittaker's room; that he was afraid Cadet Whittaker had been murdered. Witness described the position in which Whittaker was lying on the floor, as has already been described by other witnesses. On a subsequent visit to Whittaker's room he picked a piece of burned letter from the dust box on the floor. The writing on this scrap of paper was identified by Cadet Hodgson and himself as that of Whittaker's. On the night of the 5th of April he retired rather early, having a head ache, in consequence he was wakeful. His ventilator and transom were open but he heard no noise outside of any kind during the night. Whittaker had no carpet on his floor, and the noise of any person walking about or moving a chair, could be distinctly heard. Witness said he saw tufts of hair in the dust box which resembled Whittaker's hair.

FIRE AT CONCORD, MASS.

CONCORD, Feb. 17.—The largest and most disastrous fire that has visited Concord for years, fairly threatening to destroy the entire business portion of the town known as the Milldam, occurred at four o'clock this morning. The building owned by George Hunt, and occupied by him in the lower portion as a grocery store and in the upper story by D. F. Potter, upholsterer, with the livery stable connected with the Middlesex Hotel property owned by the Middlesex Institution for Savings, were totally destroyed. The fire originated in the latter building, the stable of which contained a large amount of livestock, vehicles, etc., all of which was saved with the exception of eight pigs. The Middlesex Hotel was several times on fire, and trunks, furniture, etc., were hastily removed, but it was saved by the strenuous efforts of the fire department. The small building situated next to Hunt's, occupied by Russ. Hayward, gunsmith, owned by G. L. Eaton, was slightly damaged but the loss was more than covered by insurance.

The will of Judge Charles E. Forbes gives in trust to the town of Northampton $220,000 and as much more as the estate warrants, for a public library. In case the town refuses to accept the conditions, the $220,000 is to go to Harvard College to establish a professorship of advanced scientific research. The town now has a library building costing $70,000 and 13,000 volumes, endowed with $10,000 for books by John Clark, and it was the intention of Judge Forbes that the two should be united. Northampton congratulates itself and expects to have one of the largest libraries in the country, outside of the great cities.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

JANUARY SESSION.

THURSDAY, Feb. 17.

SENATE.

The Senate met on Thursday, pursuant to adjournment, His Excellency Gov. Littlefield in the chair.

Title XV, "of mills, fences and pounds, and of animals going at large and doing damage and of estrays," came from the House with amendments, which was agreed to with an amendment making it necessary that all stray horses shall "be kept with a withe about its neck."

Lieut. Gov. Fay called from the table the following resolution received from the House and moved its passage:

Resolved—The honorable Senate concurring herewith, that the Senators and Representatives in the Congress of the United States from Rhode Island be requested to use all honorable means in their power to secure the establishment of the United States Training School for boys upon Coasters Harbor Island, in Newport, which site has been ceded by this state to the United States for that purpose.

Resolved—That the Secretary of the State be instructed to forward a copy of these resolutions to each of the Senators and Representatives in Congress from this state.

The Senate passed the resolution and ordered it communicated to the House forthwith.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The House met at 11 o'clock, Mr. Speaker Spooner in the chair.

Mr. Freeman introduced a resolution of instructions to our Congressional delegation to use all their efforts to secure the establishment of the Naval Training School at Newport.

Mr. Freeman said that the Connecticut Legislature had unanimously voted a similar resolution of instruction to its Congressmen, and strenuous exertions were being made to defeat the establishment of the school at Newport, and secure it for New London. Under these circumstances he hoped the resolution would be unanimously adopted that our Congressmen might know that we are backing them up in their efforts to have the school established at Newport.

Mr. Sheffield hoped so too.

The resolution was adopted and ordered sent to the Senate forthwith. Subsequently the Senate reported its concurrence.

Mr. Sanborn introduced a resolution to continue the use of the telephone in the State House at Newport. Referred to committee on finance.

Mr. Chace, of Warren, offered a resolution proposing a Constitutional amendment, whereby the membership of the House of Representatives is to be fixed at eighty, no town to have more than one fourth of the whole number. Referred to the committee on the judiciary.

Title IX, "of public instruction," was taken up, and the Senate amendment considered. After concurring in two amendments, the amendment referring to the change of text books in the public schools was reached. The section reads: "A change may be made in the text books in the public schools of any town and in the city of Providence, by a vote of two thirds of the whole school committee," etc. The words in italics were added by the Senate.

Mr. Bowen called attention to this matter and hoped that Providence would be left out, and allowed to attend to her own affairs.

Messrs. Eames, Sanborn, Price, Adams, Sheffield, Bowen and others discussed the matter, and finally, at the request of Mr. Eames, endorsed by Mr. Sheffield, the title was tabled temporarily to allow Mr. Eames to consult his associates and determine what action to take in the premises.

Also an invitation to attend the Irish sympathy meeting, to be held on Feb. 18th, at Music Hall. Accepted.

Mr. Carpenter introduced a resolution to appoint a joint special committee to inquire whether foreign insurance companies are doing business in conformity to law, and whether any further legislation was necessary on this subject; adopted.

On motion of Mr. Vincent, adjourned to Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

A GREAT MONOPOLY.

Very few of the forty millions of people in the United States who burn kerosene know that its production, manufacture, and export, its price at home and abroad, have been controlled for years by a single corporation,—the Standard Oil Company. This company began in a partnership, in the early years of the civil war, between Samuel Andrews and John Rockefeller in Cleveland.

Rockefeller had been a bookkeeper in some interior town in Ohio, and had afterwards made a few thousand dollars by keeping a flour store in Cleveland. Andrews had been a day laborer in refineries, and so poor that his wife took in sewing. He found a way of refining by which more kerosene could be got out of a barrel of petroleum than by any other method, and set up for himself a ten-barrel still in Cleveland by which he cleared $500 in six months.

Andrews's still and Rockefeller's savings have grown into the Standard Oil Company. It has a capital, nominally $3,500,000, but really much more, on which it divides among its stockholders every year millions of dollars of profits. It has refineries at Cleveland, Baltimore and New York. Its own acid works, glue factories, hardware stores and barrel shops supply it with all the accessories it needs in its business. It has bought land at Indianapolis on which to erect the largest barrel factory in the country. It has drawn its check for $1,000,000 to suppress a rival. It buys 30,000 to 40,000 barrels of crude oil a day, at a price fixed by itself, and makes special contracts with the railroads for the transportation of 13,000,000 to 14,000,000 barrels of oil a year.

The four quarters of the globe are partitioned among the members of the Standard combinations. One has the control of the China trade; another that of some country of Europe; another that of the United States. In New York, you cannot buy oil for East Indian export from the house that has been given the European trade; reciprocally, the East Indian house is not allowed to sell for export to Europe. The Standard produces only one-fiftieth or sixtieth of our petroleum, but dictates the price of all, and refines nine-tenths. Circulars are issued at intervals by which the price of oil is fixed for all the cities of the country, except New York, where a little competition survives.

Such is the indifference of the Standard Oil Company to railroad charges that the price is made the same for points so far apart as Terre Haute, Chicago, and Keokuk. There is not today a merchant in Chicago, or in any other city in the New England, Western, or Southern states, dealing in kerosene, whose prices are not fixed for him by the Standard. In all cases these prices are graded so that a merchant in one city cannot export to another. Chicago, Cincinnati, or Cleveland is not allowed to supply the tributary towns. That is done by the Standard itself, which runs oil in its own tank cars to all the principal points of distribution.

This corporation has driven into bankruptcy, or out of business, or into union with itself all the petroleum refineries of the country except five in New York, and a few of little consequence in Western Pennsylvania. Nobody knows how many millions Rockefeller is worth. Current gossip among his business acquaintance in Cleveland puts his income last year at a figure second only, if second at all, to that of Vanderbilt. His partner, Samuel Andrews, the poor English day laborer, retired years ago with millions.

Just who the Standard Oil Company are exactly what their capital is, and what are their relations to the railroads, nobody knows except in part. Their officers refused to testify before the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, the late New York Investigating Committee, and a committee of Congress. The New York committee found there was nothing to be learned from them, and was compelled to confess its inability to ascertain as much as it desired to know "of this mysterious organization, whose business transactions are of such a character that its members declined giving a history or description, lest their testimony be used to convict them of crime."—[March Atlantic.

PERSONALS.

......There are three ladies living whose husbands were Presidents of the United States, Mrs. Polk, Mrs. Lincoln, and Mrs. Grant.

......In his sermon last Sunday, the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher said he hoped Mrs. Garfield would follow the good example set by Mrs. Hayes, and have no wine in the White House.

......David Dudley Field is the oldest New York lawyer in active practice. He was 76 years old on Tuesday, but is as vigorous as he was twenty years ago, and walks along Broadway as erect as a grenadier.

......Wade Hampton is an ordinary looking man, says a Washington correspondent, who keeps his seat and says nothing with wonderful diligence. He is growing quite gray, and his bushy whiskers give him a warlike aspect, though he is essentially a man of peace.

......Capt. Frederick Pendleton, who lately died at an advanced age after a long residence at Stonington, Conn., left an estate valued at nearly $90,000. It is said that he had for many years kept all his property, which consisted principally of stocks and bonds, in a little trunk in his sleeping room.

......Mr Peter Cooper says that the only New York building which he remembers as existing during his childhood is St. Paul's Church. Two are partially the same—Washington's headquarters on Water street, and the headquarters at the foot of Broadway. With these exceptions—added to three dwellings in Harlem—the entire city has been rebuilt.

......Rev. Henry White, chaplain of the Royal Chapel Savoy and also chaplain to the queen, and the clergyman who assisted to marry Baroness Burdett Coutts and Mr. Bartlett, is reported to be intending to visit this country. Mr. White is a good preacher and a man of warm heart and engaging manners. He has always been especially courteous to American clergyman visiting England.

......Senator Blaine is still confined to his house with rheumatism. He is mending slowly, but surely. According to the report in the Washington Star he is arranging to leave the Senate, and may not care again to take his seat with that body. According to his present intention, he will resign next week. This will give the Maine Legislature the required ten days' notice of an existing vacancy, and will afford the opportunity to elect his successor, Mr. Frye, in time to enable him to take his seat very soon after March 4th next.

......Admiral Bythesea, a very distinguished officer, who has just retired from the service, after having for many years filled the post of consulting naval officer to the Government of India, got his name by being, when an infant, picked up at sea by a ship of war, lashed to a bale of goods. Inquiry failed to elicit any sort of information about this human flotsam; so the ship's officers adopted him, and called him "By-the-sea," and sent him to a naval school. The first ship in which he served was that which saved his life. He has the Victoria Cross and the Order of the Bath.

......The regret which the readers of the Atlantic will feel at the retirement of Mr. Howells from the editorial management of the magazine will be tempered by a sense of satisfaction that his work is to devolve upon one who is so well fitted for it as Mr. Aldrich. The new editor of the Atlantic has long been numbered among its most popular contributors, and both in prose and verse he has done much to brighten its pages and increase its attractiveness. He has a delicate fancy, a keen though quiet humor, and a style of unusual grace and purity. His many friends, and others who know him only through his writings, will wish him well in his new connection with the magazine, which will, we trust, augur prosperity alike to him and to it.

A SOUND PALACE.

Capt. Gardner, the superintendent of the Norwich line, gave the following information concerning the company's new iron steamer, the City of Worcester. She will have the largest freight capacity of any Sound boat. Her passenger-carrying capacity will be 500. There will be twelve large staterooms, with bedsteads instead of berths, and 162 ordinary staterooms. Her lower or main deck cabin will be finished in hard wood. The stateroom hall will also be finished in hard wood, and, both the pilasters and cornices, will be in the Queen Anne style. There will be a double tier of staterooms forward. Meals will be served in the forward part of the stateroom hall, which will be much pleasanter than eating below the main deck, as is the present custom, especially in the hot summer days. Special precautions have been taken in building the vessel to provide all the safeguards against the loss of life of passengers by fire or water. As a protection from the former, her boilers and engines are all encased in iron, and all ventilators to them are of iron, and run to the hurricane deck, making it absolutely impossible for fire to be communicated from the boilers to the woodwork in case of accident. There will be two sets of fire pumps situated in different parts of the steamer. It will be almost an impossibility for her to sink, as the six iron water-tight bulkheads which she has are so constructed that, in case of accident from collision, any two of them may be stove in and filled with water, and yet the remaining four will easily keep her afloat. She will, in addition to this, have all the latest appliances for life saving. The following are her principal dimensions: Length of deck, 240 feet; breadth of beam, 46 feet; breadth over all, 80 feet; depth of hold, 16 feet 4 inches; diameter of cylinder, 90 inches; length of stroke, 12 feet; diameter of wheel, 38 feet; face of wheel, 11 feet; horse power. 2500. She will use the electric light at night. Her cost will be upward of $500,000. Her building was commenced last September, and her launch will take place within a few days.

Wherever the Church of Rome, says the Evangelist, controls education, the proportion of the illiterate is the largest. The last census report of Ireland returns one-fifth of the whole population as illiterate. In the province of Connaught, of the 697,166 Roman Catholics of five years old and upward, no less than 357,899 (or 51.3 per centum) are illiterate, while out of 31,580 members of the Irish Church, only 3,489 (or 11 per centum) are returned as illiterates and out of 2,850 Presbyterians, only 160 (or 6.6 per centum). The Roman Catholic Church has the education of her people in her own hands. Dr. Lyon Playfair said in the London Times that 99⅔ per centum of the schools in Ireland were under denominational and clerical control and here is the result. The prison returns of Ireland show that while the Roman Catholic population of Ireland is about 3½ to one, the Roman Catholic criminals are as six to one.

A widow living near Lake George has adopted an odd but successful method of filling her ice house. She places a number of milk pans containing spring water out of doors at night and in the morning packs the frozen chunks away, solidifying the same by pouring water over it and leaving the door of the icehouse open.

A Modern Miracle.

THE MOST MARVELOUS EXPERIENCE OF ONE OF BOSTON'S LEADING CITIZENS.

How it Occurred.—His Description of the Circumstances, and the Overwhelming Testimony of Prominent Witnesses.

[Boston Globe, Dec. 8th.]

The readers of this paper were more or less amazed at a most remarkable statement from one of our leading citizens which appeared in yesterday's issue. So unusual were the circumstances connected with it, and so much comment did it occasion on the street and in social circles, that a representative of this paper was commissioned to investigate its details and verify its facts. The article referred to was a statement made by Mr. B. F. Larrabee, of the New York and Boston Dispatch Express Company, that after having lain at the point of death for more than three weeks, given up by both physicians and friends, he had completely and wonderfully regained his usual health. Mr. Larrabee was found in his private office on Arch street, and upon being questioned said:

"Well, sir, logically, I have been dead, but really, I am as you see me. A little over a year ago, I was taken sick, but I allowed the illness to run along until on the 28th day of October, 1879, I fell prostrate while walking along Tremont street. I was carried home and did not go out of the house until the middle of December. I then went down town and attempted to attend to my business until the 13th of last January, when I was taken with a very severe relapse. My symptoms were terrible. I was fearfully bloated; I suffered severe pains in all parts of the body and it was almost impossible to get my breath. For six days I never laid down and never slept. I was constantly attended by my regular physician, Doctor Johnson, and Doctor Bowditch also came to see me nearly every day. There was no doubt that I was suffering from Bright's disease of the Kidneys in its worst form and last stages, accompanied by other troubles in my liver and heart. In spite, however, of the skill of the physicians, I kept growing worse and finally they tapped my side in the vicinity of the heart, taking away forty-six ounces of water. This relieved me for the time, but I soon became as bad as before. Then the doctors gave me up entirely, declared I could not live more than twenty-four hours and my daughter, who was residing in Paris was telegraphed for. Still I lingered along for several weeks, far more dead than alive, but never giving up hope. One night—it was on the 20th of April, I very well remember—my attendant, who was reading the paper to me, began an article which described my disease and sufferings exactly. It told how some severe cases of Bright's disease had been cured, and so clearly and sensibly did it state the case that I determined to try the means of cure which it described. So I sent my man to the drug store, procured a bottle of the medicine, unknown to my physicians and friends, and took the first dose at 10 o'clock. At that time I was suffering intensely. I could not sleep; I had the short breaths and could scarcely get any air into my lungs. I was terribly bloated from head to foot, and the motion of my heart was irregular and painful. The next morning I was able to breathe freely; the pain began to leave me and the bloating decreased. I continued to take the medicine, and today, sir, I am as well as I ever was in my life, and wholly owing to the wonderful, almost miraculous power of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. I do not know what this medicine is made of, or anything else about it, but I know it saved my life when I was given up by the doctors and had really been dead for weeks; that it has kept me in perfect health ever since and has cured many of my friends to whom I have recommended it. There are a number of very remarkable cases in Lynn and Salem, as well as in this city, that it has cured. My recovery is so remarkable that it has excited much attention, and physicians as well as others have investigated it thoroughly. I am glad they have, for I feel that the result of such a wonderful cure should be known to the thousands in all parts of the land who are suffering from troubles of the kidneys, liver, or heart in some of their many dangerous forms."

The representative of the press thanked Mr. Larrabee for his very frank and clear statement, and was about to leave the office when a gentleman stepped up to him and inquired if he was seeking information about Mr. Larrabee's sickness and recovery. The scribe replied that he was, whereupon the gentleman said:

"And so am I, and I have come all the way from Chicago for that very purpose. Kidney troubles seem to be alarmingly increasing all over the country, and I have a very near relative who is afflicted much as Mr. Larrabee was. I have been to see the physicians of whom Mr. Larrabee speaks, and I tell you, sir, it is simply wonderful."

"What did they say?" asked the man of news.

"Say! why, sir, they fully confirm everything Mr. Larrabee has stated. I went to see Dr D. A. Johnson, at 20 Worcester street. He was absent when I called and so I stepped into the Commonwealth Hotel where Mr. Larrabee was living at the time of his sickness. Messrs. Brugh & Carter are the proprietors, and I asked them about Mr. Larrabee's case. Mr. Brugh pointed to me the electric annunciator and said 'Why for weeks and weeks every time that bell rang I said: That means the death of Mr. Larrabee. No one around the hotel ever dreamed that he would recover and when the doctors would come down from his room they would shake their heads and say there was no hope. The arrangements for the funeral were all made and his recovery was simply a miracle.'

I then called on Dr. Johnson who said that Mr. Larrabee's case was a very remarkable one. He was his family physician and expected his death every hour for a number of weeks and never called to see him during that time, but he was prepared for it. The doctor said the recovery was due to Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, and if he had friends, male or female, troubled with albumen or any kidney troubles he should certainly advise them to use this remedy. Dr. Johnson said kidney difficulties are more common than most people think and that many symptoms which are supposed to be other diseases arise from the kidneys. He said that ladies after gestation are specially subject to albuminous troubles which require prompt attention.

Well, I then came down and called on Dr. H. Ingersoll Bowditch on Boylston street. The old doctor was inclined to be reticent but fully confirmed all I had previously heard. He had attended Mr. Larrabee, had supposed him to be beyond all hope, and was afterwards restored, as he said, by Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure.

I next went to see Dr. Melville E. Webb, at the Hotel Cluny, for you see I was determined to be thorough in the matter. I found Dr. Webb a most clear-headed and well-informed gentleman, and he said:

"I know of Mr. Larrabee's case from having thoroughly investigated it as medical director of a Life Insurance company, and it is one of the most remarkable cases I have ever met. Mr. Larrabee had all the manifestations of a complication of diseases, and in their worst forms. He had albumen and cast in the urine, and a terribly diseased liver and spleen. Indeed, he was so bad that he threw himself upon the floor, and with his head upon a hassock, struggled for breath. It was on the night when he was so bad and when all his medical advisers had long given him up that he began using Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver cure. The next morning at 10 o'clock he was able to breathe freely, and has been ever since. I subjected him to the most thorough examination possible, after his recovery, and I can't find out about him. His kidneys, liver, lungs and heart are perfectly well and sound. I can only add that, from what I have seen, I should unhesitatingly recommend this remedy."

The conclusion from the statement above made, which come to the newspaper man as well as to the general public, must be two fold. First, that a modern miracle of healing has been performed in our midst, and that, too, by the simplest means and one which is within the reach of every one; and secondly, that testimonials of such high character and so outspoken in tone conclusively prove the value of the remedy and its superior claims to the proprietary articles with which the public have been flooded. "The greater includes the less," and the remedy which has been proven so valuable and has saved a life after it was brought down to death's door must unquestionably be certain in all minor troubles which are so disastrous unless taken in time.

Newport Daily News.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1881.

The snow blockades on the Kansas Pacific and Santa Fé railways are broken.

Parnell has arrived in London and was to resume his seat in Parliament today.

It is reported that Carl Schurz will decline from the Cabinet to the editorial chair of the St. Louis Times.

It was snowing heavily in Chicago last night, with a prospect of another worst storm of the season.

The inquiry for summer residences continues unusually brisk, and it is already evident that Newport is to have a prosperous season.

The House Committee on Appropriations has agreed to insert an item of $35,000 in the Sundry Civil bill for a lighthouse on Whale Rock.

Call for the Newport Journal this evening if you wish a paper with all the week's news to send to friends abroad. It will be ready at about 4:30 P. M.

The West Point cadets cannot go to the inauguration on account of the travelling expenses. That is where the Annapolis cadets have the advantage.

The General Assembly took appropriate action yesterday by way of presenting the claims of Rhode Island for the Naval Training School. The resolutions will be forwarded to Congress without delay.

Cincinnati is becoming alarmed on the small-pox subject. The alarm is but natural when it is remembered that in 1872 eleven thousand one hundred and seventy-nine of her citizens died of this disease.

We have not seen a single newspaper which does not characterize the River and Harbor bill as passed by the House a huge steal. Should it pass the Senate, President Hayes will have the opportunity of a life time by imposing a veto.

No trace of the missing T. Howard Peterson has yet been found. A conductor on the railway asserts that Mr. Peterson went from Atlantic City to Philadelphia on the 7th, the day he disappeared, but the detectives think he is mistaken.

A sheriff who tried to serve writs on some non taxpaying Irishmen in Sing Creek, Canada, was given his choice of being hung or eating the documents. He ate them and prefers to attack a hornet's nest to going near that settlement again.

If it should turn out that Counters Harbor is not taken for the Training School, there is a growing feeling for selling the property and providing a new and less exposed home for the poor, who could be amply supported from the proceeds of the sale.

The City Council meets this evening for the especial consideration of the hydrant question. It is understood that a report will be made covering the subject and opening the way for the settlement of the whole matter. The sooner this is done the better for the city.

An appeal is made for funds to aid in printing books in raised letters for the blind. It is certainly a worthy object and persons interested may send their contributions to M. Anagnos, at Perkins Institution for the Blind, Boston, or smaller sums may be left at the Daily News office when they will be duly forwarded.

While the children of Newport are now taking their turn at the measles, it is a cheerful fact that scarletina, diphtheria and typhoid, which are known as filth diseases, are and have been almost unknown among us. It is doubtful if there is a city in the United States that can show so clean a bill of health for the past year as our own.

Senator Conkling scores another victory over the occupant of the White House. The President has withdrawn the nomination of Mr. Forster whose only recommendation for the place is the fact that he is a bitter personal enemy of the New York Senator. The "machine politicians" cannot be disposed of in that summary way.

People should be careful what petitions they sign. There is likely to be a sensation in Washington, as in response to a resolution of Senator Blaine, the District Commissioners have transmitted to the Senate the names of all the applicants for liquor licenses for the year past, with all the signatures and endorsements attached thereto, and the whole mass of papers was ordered to be printed.

The nature of the decision in the Chicago court in the Benjamin Mumford case is not yet fully understood by the heirs in this city. The exact amount of the award and whether the decision is final or not remains to be ascertained. It is certain however the verdict given was in favor of the original plaintiff.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

At the last regular meeting of the school board Monday evening, eleven members were present.

After the reading of the record by the secretary reports were called from the various committees.

The committee on text books presented a very full report on books of reference, supplementary readers and material for use in the sub primary schools that have been furnished since the opening of the municipal year.

The following is an abstract of the said report:

A copy of the revised edition of Webster's Unabridged Dictionary has been placed in each grammar school; a copy of Lippincott's Gazetteer has been placed in each school of the first, second and third grammar grades; a complete set of Appleton's New American Cyclopaedia has been placed in the Cranston avenue school; a copy of Lippincott's Biographical Dictionary has been placed in the Clarke street school, and also one in the Coddington; other books of reference, also, have been purchased and placed upon the desks of the teachers in order that teachers and pupils may have access to the latest information on any subject coming within the range of the school course.

This committee also recommended the continuance of oral instruction in geography in connection with the use of Monteith's Pictorial Chart in the first primary grade, through the year, the text book to be taken up by the pupils in the second intermediate grade. The recommendation was unanimously adopted.

The superintendent presented an interesting report of the condition and work of the sub-primary schools. The essentials to success in this grade are pleasant and attractive rooms, kind, sympathetic, and enthusiastic teachers and an abundance of school material.

Since these schools have been furnished with extra reading matter, forms and objects for use in exercises in arithmetic and language, marked improvement is noticeable.

The frequent changes in the exercises, made possible now with the material at hand, has banished mischief, prevented truancy and infused into these schools a spirit of eagerness and enthusiasm. The reading exercises are marked for their earnestness and natural expression; the use of the forms in rapid combinations of numbers from one to four, one to eight, and so on as the pupils acquire proficiency, and the use of toy money by means of which they are taught the denomination, value and use of money, make these exercises interesting and practical.

There are ten schools of this grade with an average registry for the two terms of 52 pupils to a school, a total of 520 different individuals in attendance since September; during the last term but six individual cases of truancy were reported.

There have been registered in all the schools during the year, 1974 pupils; during the term, 1842; average belonging, 1523; average attendance, 1379.

782 pupils were not late during the term, 217 were not absent, and 159 were neither absent nor late.

At the close of the meeting the chairman called attention to the writing books of the first and second grammar schools and specimens of penmanship from all the schools. From the appearance of the books and slips it is very evident that the teachers are fully alive to the importance of securing good results in this branch of study and that their efforts are attended with a good degree of success. Considerable comment was made upon the fine specimens sent from the sub-primary schools.

JUSTICE COURT.

The two complaints against Thomas Campbell, one for assault and one for larceny, continued for trial to this court today, are now withdrawn upon respondent's paying the costs. Costs paid and respondent discharged.

Elizabeth Graham and Maria Lewis, (a soldier's wife,) were arraigned before Judge Baker yesterday, upon complaint as being lewd, lascivious and wanton, and they each pleaded not guilty, and thereupon the complaints were both continued for trial to Tuesday next and the respondents were required to furnish surety each in the sum of one hundred dollars for their appearance for trial on that day. They were both committed to jail for want of surety.

The rule of practice in this court in regard to the entry of writs in civil cases, of which Judge Baker spoke at the last session, is that there is no such practice to be allowed of putting a writ in the hands of the clerk, and requesting it to be held without paying the entry fee or expecting it to be put on the record, with the idea of a settlement or compromise. What the court holds is that there is no such thing as an entry nisi, as the lawyers sometimes term it, but that a writ is entered or not entered and that there is no purgatorial, half way state, wherein it may whiten out into a compromise or settlement.

If a writ is not put in the clerk's hands and the entry paid with the intention of its being placed on the docket, it is not entered at all and has no standing in court; and the entry must be paid for and made on the return day of the writ, and the writ cannot be entered afterwards.

A SUCCESSFUL FAIR.

The annual fair of Zion Church at the Opera House Thursday evening was very successful. The details of the affair were arranged by the rector, Rev. E. H. Kettell. The general manager was Mrs. William C. Cozzens. The house was floored over for the occasion, and the whole interior neatly decorated with flags, and bunting. Prettily arranged booths and tables were placed at the sides, while in the center was a mammoth prize tree. The supper tables were on back of the stage. The attendance was very large. The gallery, where the 1st U. S. Artillery band, Prof. Kreyer, leader, was stationed, was comfortably filled with sight-seers who from their position had a good view. The concert by the band was fine. A number of valuable prizes were drawn after realizing satisfactory prices. The macramé lace was awarded to Mrs. Thomas A. Spencer and the china tea set to Miss Emma Goffe.

Each person buying a ticket for the tree received a prize.

The persons having charge of the various attractions were:

Tree—Miss Mary Hazard, Miss Emma Whitehorn, Miss Howard.
Tea and Coffee—Miss Cleveland.
Chocolate Table—Mrs. Copeland.
Guess Pole—Miss Atkinson.
Grab Box—Miss Saulpaugh, Miss Palmer.
Guess Cake—Miss Etta Smith, Miss Jenny Mahoney.
Candy Table—Miss Emma Goffe.
Doll Table—Miss Hattie Stewart.
Lemonade—Miss Kate Knowles, Miss Shaw.
Flower Table—Miss Lottie Goffe, Miss Deborah Stoddard.

Guess Cake—Miss Deborah Stoddard.
Big Doll—Mrs. William Alderson.
Picture—Miss Sallie Spencer.
Corn Ball—Mrs. William Alderson.
Gold Ring—Miss Lucy Brown.
Mat—Mrs. A. A. Saunders.

The Odd Fellow's secret society, one of the funny events of the evening, was in charge of several enterprising lads.

We learn that the gross receipts of this fair will not be far from $500.

BUSINESS NOTES.

The National Bank of Adams, New York, has gone into liquidation. A deficiency of $12,000 now appears.

The New York produce market closed firm and ½ higher for wheat, corn ½ lower, oats dull and ½ lower, and lard 5c. lower.

It is claimed that the Adams Express Company has securities on hand to the extent of three-quarters of its whole capital stock.

Any person who holds May corn will probably see a considerable advance. The shipments of late have exceeded the receipts largely, and as the corn crop is short, and hay is very high, there must be a rise in corn.

The Chicago grain market was steady with no important changes in wheat, corn or oats. Lard rose 5c. and pork 5c. The stock of pork on hand is now 201,000 barrels against 238,000 last year. The stock of lard is 98,000 tierces against 238,000 tierces last year.

The Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Company has closed all offices south of Washington, and run the wires into the Western Union stations. Employes are being dismissed as fast as possible and the working gangs disbanded. The tariff to Philadelphia will soon be advanced to 25 cents.

This week a membership of the New York Stock Exchange sold for $31,000, and the buyer has to pay in addition $1,000 to the Stock Exchange, so that the cost of a membership at present is $32,000. There are 1,100 memberships, and at $31,000 each the present value of total memberships is $21,100,000. Five years ago it was difficult to sell a membership for $5,000.

The Lake Shore road, it is learned on good authority, is much crowded with local traffic, and there is a great rush of freight together with a largely increased local passenger business. The local business of this company now comprises fully 60@70 per cent. of its gross receipts. Its legal local passenger rates are 3 cents per mile, which is 1 cent more than the New York Central, and a great many people consider it the cheaper stock of the two.

A PHYSICIAN'S STORY.

A short time ago Dr. Hyrtl, the eminent Austrian anatomist, celebrated the seventieth anniversary of his birth, surrounded by some of the best-known gentlemen of the medical profession in Vienna. During the banquet given in honor of the occasion, he spoke of the experiences of his long life, and related one incident which turns upon a ballet dancer's shoe. In 1850, when he was Professor of Anatomy to the Vienna School of Medicine, he was lecturing on the formation of the foot and the injury done this member by ballet dancing and pirouetting on the tips of the toes. To bring his remarks home to his hearers by practical demonstration, he exhibited a ballerina's shoe, and was expiating on its prejudicial effects for the wearer, when a little rose-colored billet dropped from it. The Professor, surprised, picked it up and read it, with deep emotion depicted on his countenance, and the shoe with its billet became a mystery much talked of in Vienna for a time, Dr. Hyrtl being credited with having received a love-letter from some operatic dansense who had maliciously concealed it in the article in question. The billet, however, conveyed no tender love-message, but was traced by the hand of a dying girl named Wanda, who was one of the best pupils of the Imperial Dancing Academy. The contortions to which she had to twist her feet brought on a malady in the right one, and inflammation supervening a consultation was held to decide whether the foot should be amputated. Dr. Hyrtl took part in the consultation. His two colleagues were of opposite opinions, and he had the casting vote. Just as he was leaving the room his eyes met those of the patient, and the mute terror and entreaty he read in them unmanned him. He proposed that a delay of twenty-four hours should be allowed. This was conceded, but when it had expired mortification had set in, and the poor child was given over. Some days after, the doctor received a small parcel. It contained the dead girl's shoe, and it was the same shoe he had used in the course of his lecture. The rose-colored billet in it, which had escaped his notice, was written on her death-bed. It expressed her gratitude to the man who had wished to spare her humiliation, and begged him to keep the little shoe in remembrance of Wanda.

The Fakir of Siva gave a sleight of hand performance in Galveston. One of his feats was to make a marked dollar disappear in the sight of the crowd, which he successfully did. "That marked dollar will be found in the vest pocket of that colored gentleman," said the Fakir, pointing with his magic wand at Sam Johnsing. All eyes were riveted on Sam, who advanced to the front, took some money from his vest pocket, and said: "Boss heah is your change, I has had two beers and a sugar outen dat dollar you tole me to keep in my vest pocket till you called fouh it."—[Galveston News.

The passengers and crew of the steamer Bertha, which left Orange, Tex., Feb. 3, for the upper Sabina, had an experience which they would not choose to repeat. On the second night out the boat caught fire and burned with a vivacious rapidity which left the company no other alternative than to get ashore as fast as possible. By means of a plank they scrambled to the river bank and sank into a sheet of mud several inches deep. By this time the flames had reached the freight, and pistol and rifle cartridges by the thousand were exploding, sending a rain of bullets in every direction. Several barrels of kerosene exploded, scattering flames among the miserable people on the river bank. At length the boilers burst, the boat sank and utter darkness followed. Fortunately a little food and a canoe were saved from the water, and after two days and nights of dreadful suffering and constant danger from tempest and flood, a river steamer came to the rescue.

THE MARSEILLAISE.

THE AUTHORSHIP AND HISTORY OF THE GREAT FRENCH WAR SONG.

The authorship of the Marseillaise Hymn, so often prohibited by despotic governments and now the national air of France, has often been disputed. M. Soinguerlot, in his interesting work on Strasbourg during the Revolution, puts an end to the controversy on this subject. Soinguerlot is an Alsatian, and a native of the town about which he wrote. He was acquainted from infancy with the Revolutionary legends and anecdotes which had currency there, and has been able through his local knowledge to trace many of them to their source and to verify them. The old people of the town put him on the trace of family papers which threw a flood of light on the Revolutionary period. M. Soinguerlot has discovered that it was not as an officer, but as a member of the staff of La Feuille de Strasburg that Rouget (de Lisle) frequented the house of the Mayor Dietrich, to whom that journal belonged. M. Rouget bore a name that was and is very common in the east of France. It meant "the little red man." There were hundreds of Rougets in that part of France, not one of which had a right to the nobiliary addition. Some of them were Rougets de la Riviere, others Rougets du Pont, and the family of the author of the Marseillaise were Rougets de l'Isle or of the Island. M. Rouget brought out his poem in the Feuille de Strasburg. The Mayor's wife, Madame Dietrich, a native of Bale, thought it a chef d'œuvre, and induced the officers to have it set to music and to publish it. The Marseillaise appeared in this form probably in the spring of 1792. It was entitled: "A war song for the Army of the Rhine, dedicated to Marshal Luckner, and sold at Strasburg by P. J. Dannbach, printer of the municipality, in one quarto oblong page, or in four pages with the music." M. Soinguerlot thinks it must have come out in the beginning of April. On the 29th of that month M. de Chastelet, commander of the stronghold of Schlestadt, wrote to the Mayor of Strasburg: "I have not yet received the war song of M. de Lisle, which you promised me." M. de Chastelet, who was, of course, a man of old and noble family, drops the vulgar Rouget and turns what only was an adjective into a name expressing nobiliary pretensions.—[Paris letter in New York Tribune.

LAND-OWNING IN ENGLAND.

At present land is a luxury. To its possession certain social advantages are attached. A vast amount of the land in England belongs to no one in existence. By the will of some one who is dead, it is the property of some one who is not born. The life tenant, whether he cares for country life, whether he has the means to keep up an establishment, and whether he is overburdened with settlements and mortgages, is compelled to own a large house with a large garden and large pleasure grounds attached to it. As in many instances he is indifferent to his heir, and in still more frequent cases has to save to provide a portion for his daughters and younger sons, he lays out nothing on the estate, and is unable, by the tenure under which he occupies it, to give such long leases as would induce occupants to turn it to the best use. Habit, moreover, has often led the owner to impose numerous restrictive clauses in the leases that he does grant, which cripple the energies of the tenant, and keep him under the tutelage of exploded fallacies.

An occupier who wishes to buy land has, therefore, to pay for it more than it is worth, and, beside this, he has to expend a comparatively enormous sum among lawyers for acquiring it. The result of all this is, that land has accumulated to a scandalous extent in the hands of some families, that in others it is a curse to the possessor, that the occupier is not his own master, and that it is almost impossible for any yeoman, wishing to become possessor of a small farm, to purchase one, unless he be ready to pay a fancy value for it.—[London Truth.

A new discovery has been made with reference to Leonardo da Vinci. M. Richter, a German, in Paris on an archæological expedition, found recently in the Mazarine library, says the Figaro, two enormous folio manuscripts, written and illustrated by the great Italian painter, and covering an autobiographic interval of eleven years, from 1472 to 1483, which had been a blank to his biographers. From these highly interesting documents it appears that Leonardo once was in the service of the Sultan of Egypt at Cairo as an architect, and that he became a Mussulman in order to study his art in the mosques, the entrance to which, in these days extremely difficult to foreigners, was at that time absolutely interdicted to "dogs and Christians." It is needless to add that on his return to Italy the painter of the "Last Supper" abjured the religion of Mahommed. Other discoveries are expected from the same source.

A farmer in San Bernardino, Cal., recently had a narrow and singular escape from death. He had been caressing a young bull, which had always been a quiet animal enough, and when he turned to leave him the brute rushed upon him and knocked him senseless, vainly attempting to gore him as he lay prostrate. About a hundred yards away a favorite mare and pet colt were quietly feeding, but as soon as they saw the assault they rushed to the rescue, and by kicking and biting drove the beast away. The first thing the farmer knew was the colt rubbing his nose against his face, as much as to say: "I'm very sorry, but we hurried up as fast as we could."

"I can't imagine what makes you fellows walk with your elbows sticking out," said a young Englishman to a group in a New York club the other day, "except it is," he added after a pause, "because you all used to carry parcels home when you were boys."

Sixteen muffs, decorated with humming birds, and having knots of flowers tucked into the ends, were made for the guests at a Murray Hill luncheon party the other day. The Commercial Advertiser also tells of a sportsman's dinner at which the table was decorated with two horses of white carnation, with manes of white lilac, tails of pampas grass and blankets of red carnation.

ELEVEN LIKED RADISHES AND ONE ONIONS.

In a certain little town in Normandy there are a dozen landed proprietors who are extremely fond of amusement, but amusement at a low price, each landed proprietor being more economical than the other. Not long ago they arranged a picnic at which each one was to bring his favorite dish. Arrived at the place of festivity they proceeded to arrange the menu. The first person called upon drew from his pocket a fine bunch of radishes. Then each of the ten seemed to have the same gastronomic tastes, for each in his turn drew a bunch of radishes from his pocket. Finally all the hope of the eleven distressed appetites centred upon the twelfth, who thereupon deposited upon the table, with an air of triumph, a bunch of young onions.

MRS. KETURAH GIRARD.

On Thursday, Jan. 13th, at her home in this city, Mrs. Keturah, wife of Deacon F. L. Girard.

It is not often that one passes away who demands so kind a remembrance from survivors as Mrs. Girard, who fell gently to sleep on the morning of the above mentioned day. She became a Christian in her twelfth year, and, at that early age, evinced a marked individuality which ripened with years. As she passed from girlhood into womanhood there was the blending of an earnest, innocent spirit with a pure desire to do the very best that was possible for her to do for Christ and her fellowmen. She possessed, to a high degree, that clinging, trusting nature, which made her hopeful in all matters pertaining to the advancement of Christ's kingdom. Those who were permitted to enjoy her fellowship found it a continual source of helpfulness to them. Her familiarity with the Bible, and clear perception of the truths of salvation, and her willingness to state them, made her a teacher to her associates. Death does not brighten a single one of her virtues, but as we gaze back into the past the remembrance of her earnestness in all good words and works renews deeds of kindness done and words of sympathy spoken that make memory of her precious. Of the forty years of her church membership fifteen of these years were spent in the Union Congregational Church in Newport, where her superior Bible training was felt both in the Sunday school, of which she was treasurer and teacher all that time, and in the social meetings of the church. While in health she was a constant attendant upon all stated meetings. Faithfulness in all routine duty was considered by her a principle. Her interest in young people struggling for an education was great. Many young men and women will remember her home as a green spot in their earthly pilgrimage, where discouragements were scattered and hope erected by a sympathetic word and a helping hand. Her last days on earth were full of tranquil hopefulness and triumphant anticipation of the home beyond. She met death as one starting upon a journey, at the end of which peace and rest would be found.

THE SCREEN MANIA.

The latest eccentricity of fashionable life is the sheepfold drawing-room. Screens of various kinds have been increasing in numbers—folding screens, hand screens, banner screens, table screens and fire screens—but the drawing-room screens tops the lot. It is a low wooden fence, or palissade, painted in that sad green that æsthetics love, which stretches from one post of the folding doors to another, and opens in the middle with a real wicket gate and a real latch. The sheepfold does not pretend to be a real division of the rooms so as to bar the progress of intruders, for it is so low that it can be easily stepped over, but is intended to signify that the purpose of the divided apartments are different, one division being for work and study, the other for visitors and trifling conversation. One or two ladies have been training ivy along their screens. —[From a London Letter.

TROUBLE IN VENEZUELA.

A caricature of the President and his family recently appeared in Caracas, and President Guzman Blanco, being unable to detect the guilty man, imprisoned all the lithographers, so as to make sure of doing justice to the criminal. Unfortunately one of the artists happened to be a German, Alfred Rotho by name, and the German Minister has demanded his passport and has gone home. The affair is somewhat complicated by a recent occurrence at a diplomatic banquet which the President attended. He had forgotten to take his cane, which is a valuable one. But he thought he had taken it, and his aides dared not contradict him. So, in his wrath at not finding the cane, he charged the diplomates with having stolen it. Probably a ton of diplomatic notes will be exchanged between Venezuela and the different governments represented there before the matter ends.

This is the way a lady writes to the papers concerning social ostracism: "So long as an unmarried woman has a moderately comfortable home and works merely to increase her stock of white satin slippers, her social position remains unimpaired; but let that home be broken up, let that same young woman from dire necessity continue that same occupation or trade in order to earn her daily bread, and she is immediately beyond the pale."

Let the JOURNAL be compared with any other weekly paper published in the south part of the state and its superiority in the quantity and quality of its contents, particularly in its news departments, will be at once seen. In it are found every week all the minor matters of local news and reports of entertainments, meetings, celebrations, etc., in Newport and vicinity that in fullness and excellence will compare favorably with reports in any other local paper. We state not so much an opinion as a fact, that will become apparent to any disinterested person who compares it with other papers, when we say that, for all residents of Newport county and all persons who have moved out of the county but wish to keep posted regarding affairs at their old home, the best paper without exception is the

KIDNEY REGULATOR

AND DIURETIC.

Kidnegen is highly recommended and unsurpassed for Weak or Foul Kidneys, Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Loss of Energy, Nervous Debility, or any obstructions arising from Kidney or Bladder Diseases. Also for Yellow Fever, Blood and Kidney Poisoning, in infected malarial sections

By the distillation of a Forest Leaf with Juniper Berries and Barley Malt we have discovered Kidnegen, which acts specifically on the Kidneys and Urinary Organs, removing deposits in the Bladder and straining, smarting, heat or irritation in the water passages, giving them strength, vigor and causing a healthy color and easy flow of urine. It can be taken at all times, in all climates without injury to the system. Unlike any other preparation for Kidney difficulties it has a very pleasant and agreeable taste and flavor. It contains positive diuretic properties and will not nauseate. Ladies especially will like it, and gentlemen will find Kidnegen the best Kidney Tonic ever used!

Notice.—Each bottle bears the signature of Lawrence & Martin, also a proprietary government stamp, which permits Kidnegen to be sold (without license) by Druggists, Grocers and other persons everywhere. Put up in quart size bottles for general and family use. If not found at your druggists or grocers, we will send a bottle prepaid to the nearest express office to you.
